Part 2 Act two [I am updating this post to reflect the comic-formated format, but stay for the flow] Without for a moment thinking that he was actually doing it, David began to weep freely and openly. His heart was a painful, raging thing, pumping blood and blood and blood and he couldn't stop it. Not in this house. He just listened to the crickets outside the open windows and the sounds of his heartbeat and tried to hold it all inside. He wasn't sure that this was allowed. Probably not. Just another white-flag moment. He looked down, and saw his hands were trembling. He wouldn't let anyone know he felt like this. He'd so carefully built a wall, against everything, and things hadn't changed. He'd been praying for the Doctor, and it had been answered, just a little bit, and now no one could say it wasn't. "But what is this promise of yours? Is this a dream? Are you sure you're not just trying to trick me, after all?" "David!" Now that was firm. "Look at me." David could barely be persuaded to raise his eyes to the anxious one floating above him. "I know you're still trying to convince yourself they're lost. Sarah told me about your encounter with the alien." "So, how do you know so much about me? About us? Who sent you? My former career?" He closed his eyes, then opened them, and saw the body in the chair move, shifting in its repose. "Perhaps I am asleep. Perhaps. Go tell the Doctor I'm asleep, please, and I don't want to be woken up. And then go away, now that we're friends. Leave me alone." "But I'm not going anywhere. You'll see. There are two things that make you vulnerable, David. One, the animals. The animals are probably very badly hurt. They were really nervous when they first arrived. You really helped them. I think you got one even worse than the others. I think it was trying to warn you something was wrong. That thing in the fake, it was your father, David.💎"

Kamakura, present day Japan, has been controlled by the Oda clan until the start of the Warring States period in the late 15th century. The Oda clan has traditionally been a respected one in Kamakura. However, it has not been easy to continue their prosperity, because their domains have been relatively small and the clan has faced daunting rivalries within the country and with other clans. Nobunaga Oda is a figure who makes a major effort to change his dynasty's fortunes. This invention relates to a method for the synthesis of 2-oxocycloalkanes and oxacycloalkanes. The compounds have utility as pharmaceutical agents, particularly to treat the pain associated with inflammation, and as intermediate chemicals for preparing oxo-steroids which possess valuable anti-invasive and anti-metastatic properties. It is known that prostaglandins derived from arachidonic acid are present in mammalian body fluids and that they are effective agents in the treatment of pain and inflammation. However, prostaglandins have a tendency to irritate the mucosal surfaces in the gastrointestinal tract and it is known that some prostaglandins can cause diarrhea. Further, prostaglandins are highly active in inducing smooth muscle contraction and are, therefore, potentially dangerous when used to induce premature labor in pregnant women or to induce post-partum lactation. Still further, some prostaglandins have been reported to promote the growth of cancerous tumors and it has even been reported that some prostaglandins can promote tumor metastasis. Finally, some prostaglandins have also been reported to have undesirable side effects such as contamination with the Jovenol extraction solvent. It has been reported by Hook et al. in J. Amer. Chem. Soc. 103, 6354-6357 (1981) that prostaglandin biosynthesis may be induced in mammalian cell cultures which, upon further studies, produce an oxo-substituted cyclopentane compound having the following structure (I) ##STR3##
